Chief Facility Operator's report

More or less business as usual.

Working on curb-stop in Blinking Light intersection on 2/21/2024.

Cleaning up the plant and repainting.

Lining up projects for the summer.

Got the heat pump installed on the treatment plant. This should help use less propane in winter and be more efficient for electrical power to cool the building during the summer.

The springs are rehabbed and the tests all came back clean. They are going to take another set of tests and send them to the state so the springs can all be brought back online for drinking water.

Found a water leak in the frost plate in the well building. The plate had rusted.

Everything was soaked. Replaced the frost plate and ran a dehumidifier to dry things out.

Tristan thinks the building is fine, but is planning to do more exploration come the warmth of summer.
